PREFACE.

---

AFTER a great deal of time, toil and labor, we now present the public with a general Directory of our two Cities, at the head of navigation on the Ohio, PITTSBURGH and ALLEGHENY, and the towns, business, and population immediately around, and generally within a circle of five miles of old Fort Pitt; and refer to and give the business, cards, and names of our subscribers, in several towns, &c., connected with our city, by the Monongahela and Allegheny, and by the Pennsylvania Canals, Railroads, &c., and the names and cards of several of our subscribers from other towns, cities, &c.

This is our fifth, and perhaps our last work and edition of the kind, that we shall ever publish; especially, if we are not much better patronised and paid for our present work and labor, than we were with our four former editions.

We have lived in Pittsburgh near half a century. When we first came to it, a little boy about ten years of age, the population was scarcely a thousand, and not a real good brick house in it; we now estimate it in the two cities of Pittsburgh and Allegheny, and the boroughs and towns immediately around within a circle of about five miles, at full, if not more than one hundred thousand of a population, which we believe our next census will more than sustain; and which, upon consulting with a number of our oldest and most respectable citizens,* we divide thus:

American born, about	60,000
Irish,	14,000
English,	3,500
Scotch,	3,000
Welsh,	3,500
French,	500
German,	15,000
African and colored,	3,000

We have, in our four former editions, strove to do justice to the business of our city and country generally, as Pittsburgh is at the head of navigation of the wonderful "La Belle Riviere" and tributaries, the Ohio river with all the cities, towns, &c., to Economy, Beaver, Steubenville, Wellsville, Wheeling, Marietta, Parkersburgh, Maysville, Cincinnati, Louisville, Nashville, St. Louis, Vicksburgh, Natchez, New Orleans, &c. &c., by the Ohio Canal to Fallstown, Brighton, New Castle, Youngstown, Warren, Ravenna, Cleaveland, &c., and thence upon the Lakes to Detroit, Canada, Erie, Buffalo, &c., by the Allegheny to Freeport, Kittanning, Jamestown, &c., or by Franklin and French Creek to Meadville, Waterford, Erie, and the Lakes, or by the Monongahela to McKeesport, Elizabethtown, Monongahela city, Brownsville, New Geneva, Morgantown, and Clarksburgh, &c., or by the Cumberland Railroad to Uniontown, Cumberland, Harper's Ferry, Baltimore, &c., or

---

*Gabriel Adams, Esq., Mayor of Pittsburgh, and Henry Campbell, Esq., Mayor of Allegheny, Judge Hays, Mr. Thomas Fairman, Mr. James McDowell, Mr. Wm. Bell, Judge Riddle, Mr. James Anderson, Mr. A. Beelen, Mr. Nathaniel Holmes, Mr. John Irwin, Judge Porter, Mr. Malcolm Leech, Harmer Denny, Esq., Mr. John D. Davis, Col. Elijah Trovillo, Mr. George W. Jackson, Capt. James May, Mr. John Herron, Judge Shaler, John Graham, Esq., James Gray, Esq., Mr. George A. Bayard, Mr. F. Lorenz, D. S. Scully, Esq., James Gormly, T. M. Howe, and N. B. Craig, Esqs., Mr. Joseph Little, Col. Wm. Robinson, Mr. Isaac Wickersham, James C. Cummins, Thomas Cooper, M. B. Lowrie, and George Darsie, Esqs.

by the Pennsylvania Canal to Freeport, Leechburgh, Blairsville, Johnstown, Hollidaysburgh, Lewistown, to Harrisburgh, and thence to Philadelphia, Baltimore, &c.

When we came to Pittsburgh, it had but one small old log church, where a clergyman preached to a very small congregation, and a small place at the old Fort, at the Point, in a room in a brew house, built of old Fort Pitt brick, where a few zealous Methodist people met to worship. The citizens of Pittsburgh are now a church-going people, and they have in the two cities and towns around in a circle of about five miles, upwards of one hundred good churches, and as many Sabbath schools, and about one hundred and twenty-five clergymen, as will be seen in the body of this work.

Directory of McKeesport.

This flourishing borough is located on a fine level bottom, at the junction of the Youghogheny with the Monongahela, and forms the center of the great coal trade of Western Pennsylvania.

Last year the almost incredible quantity of six millions of bushels of fine bituminous coal was exported to the markets on the Ohio and Mississippi. Partaking of this prosperity, M'Keesport is rapidly improving, and growing in population and wealth.

Two steam packets ply daily between Pittsburgh and this place, on the Monongahela Slackwater; the Camden, with her accommodating and gentlemanly Captain, James R. Kendrickson; and the Rambler, by the capable and clever Capt Haughton.
